

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A visual restoration aiding device includes an electrode array (21) having a plurality of electrodes (21a) placed on an outside of a choroid (E2) of a patient's eye (E) to electrically stimulate cells constituting a retina (E3).